Dear Prospective EMU Students,

Human beings are constantly in a process of learning during their lifespans. University is an important institution that contributes to both personal and academic development in this learning process. The EMU Entrance and Scholarship Exam, which holds a critical position in the commencement of university life, expects you to demonstrate the knowledge and skills, you have acquired throughout your school years, within a specified timeframe. At times, various reasons may make this task challenging. One of the most common reasons encountered is anxiety related to the exam. It is possible to say that anxiety, as an emotion, serves as a motivating and functional feeling. However, nowadays, numerous factors such as the significance attached to exams, negative self-assessment of one's own potential, and high expectations from family and peers can intensify exam-related anxiety. Intense anxiety can adversely affect your performance in the exam, even if you have prepared sufficiently. Therefore, in addition to adequately preparing for the exam, learning to cope with anxiety is also vital during this process. Below, you can find some tips that may help you prepare for the exam and navigate the exam process in a healthier manner.

While Preparing for the Exam…

- Make sure that your goals and expectations regarding life is realistic.
- Identify your strategy for studying, manage your time and set up a program. Try to stick to your study program. Do not postpone or change your study schedule.
- Manage your time wisely. Ensure that you have sufficient time to study, sleep, eat and relax.
- Your physical well-being, emotions and ideas are always in interaction with each other. Therefore, both your physical and psychological health must be your most important priority.

Just Before the Exam...

- Do not neglect regular sleep and balanced nutrition.
- Take time for relaxing in the days leading up to the exam. Watching a fun movie, spending time with a good friend or going for a walk can be good for you.
- Go over the important information such as the place and time of the exam. Make sure you do the necessary arrangements in order to be present at the exam place on time.
- Plan ahead for what you can do in situations where anxiety may manifest in intense physical symptoms (such as sweating, trembling, hot flashes, nausea, etc.). Learning relaxation techniques* could be beneficial.

Day of the Exam...

- Allocate sufficient time to have breakfast and get ready.
- Do not forget to bring necessary documents for entering the exam (Identity Card and Exam Entry Document).
- Make sure that you have necessary materials (pencil, eraser, etc.) for the exam.
- Leave the course materials at home; going over the course materials on the last day will make you more anxious.
- Attend to your basic needs such as restrooms or water, before the exam.
- Avoid talking to other candidate students about the exam or the difficulty of the exam which would provoke your anxiety.
- Manage your time wisely during the exam. Read the instructions and exam questions carefully, pay attention to the announcements/warnings to be made by the invigilators.
- To start the exam by solving questions related to the topics you feel more confident about will help you relax.
- Do not compare yourself with others by looking around and observing what they are doing during the exam.
- Be in a positive dialogue with yourself, do not demoralize yourself (For instance; “I have worked hard for this exam, I will do my best”).
- If your anxiety is in a level which distract you from focusing, take a deep breath and try to relax*.

Relaxation Technique:

Sit up straight in order to take a deep breath. Inhale slowly through your nose and feel your breath pushing down your diaphragm. Then, exhale slowly through your mouth. Taking deep breaths will help regulate your heart rate and blood pressure. Repeat this breathing exercise several times until you refocus on the exam.

AAS = Number of correct answers – [(number of incorrect answers) /4]

After calculating the AAS, the calculation depending on the relevant score type is as follows:

MF = 10 x [[(4/3) (AAS Math2)] + [(4/3) (AAS Science)] + [(2/3) (AAS Turkish)]]

MF = 10 x [[(4/3) (AAS Math2)] + [(4/3) (AAS Science)] + [(2/3) (AAS Turkish/English*)]]

TM = 10 x [[(4/3) (AAS Math1)] + [(4/3) (AAS Turkish)] + [(2/3) (AAS Lit.SoSci.)]]

TS = 10 x [[(2/3) (AAS Math1)] + [(4/3) (AAS Turkish)] + [(4/3) (AAS Lit.SoSci.)]]

ID = 10 x [[(3/3) (AAS Turkish)] + [(2/3) (AAS Lit.SoSci.)] + [(5/3) (AAS English)]]

* Applicable for only international students

Sample Score Calculation

A sample score calculation for a candidate whose test results in the EMU – Entrance and Scholarship 2026 would be as follows:

Test Answers	AAS Calculation
Mathematics – 1 Test: 25 correct and 5 incorrect	AAS Math1 = 25 – (5/4) = 23.75
Mathematics – 2 Test: 15 correct, 7 incorrect and 8 unanswered	AAS Math2 = 15 – (7/4) = 13.25
Science Test: 15 correct and 15 incorrect	AAS Science = 15 – (15/4) = 11.25
Turkish Test: 24 correct and 6 incorrect	AAS Turkish = 24 – (6/4) = 22.50
Literature and Social Sciences Test: 20 correct, 6 incorrect and 4 unanswered	AAS Lit.SoSci. = 20 – (6/4) = 18.50
English Language Test: 22 correct, 6 incorrect and 2 unanswered	AAS English = 22 – (6/4) = 20.50

The candidate receives the following score with the above-provided points (when calculating, the final score is rounded to two decimal fractions):

MF = 10 x [[(4/3) (AAS Math2)] + [(4/3) (AAS Science)] + [(2/3) (AAS Turkish)]]

MF = 10 x [[(4/3) (13.25)] + [(4/3) (11.25)] + [(2/3) (22.50)]] = 476.67

TM = 10 x [[(4/3) (AAS Math1)] + [(4/3) (AAS Turkish)] + [(2/3) (AAS Lit.SoSci.)]]

TM = 10 x [[(4/3) (23.75)] + [(4/3) (22.50)] + [(2/3) (18.50)]] = 740.00

TS = 10 x [[(2/3) (AAS Math1)] + [(4/3) (AAS Turkish)] + [(4/3) (AAS Lit.SoSci.)]]

TS = 10 x [[(2/3) (23.75)] + [(4/3) (22.50)] + [(4/3) (18.50)]] = 705.00

ID = 10 x [[(3/3) (AAS Turkish)] + [(2/3) (AAS Lit.SoSci.)] + [(5/3) (AAS English)]]

ID = 10 x [[(3/3) (22.5)] + [(2/3) (18.5)] + [(5/3) (20.5)]] = 690.00
